San Francisco, CA (August 2017) – San Francisco Playhouse (Bill English, Artistic Director; Susi Damilano, Producing Director) opens its fifteenth season with the Bay Area premiere of Barbecue by Robert O'Hara. In an unusual artistic feat, Margo Hall will direct and also act in the play.

The hard-partying, foul-mouthed O'Mallery family is staging an intervention for their drug-addicted sister, Barbara. With a plan inspired by reality TV, they have disguised their meeting as a family barbecue in the park—but soon it's the whole family's problems that are in the spotlight. Barbecue overturns our presumptions about race, poverty, and the American family in uproarious and incisive fashion. Written by Obie and Helen Hayes Award winner Robert O'Hara, this Barbecue serves up a healthy helping of sibling love and loathing.

"We are thrilled to present the Bay Area premiere of Barbecue, bringing Robert O'Hara's distinctive voice to our theatre," said Playhouse Artistic Director Bill English with the announcement. "O'Hara poses essential questions about race in America in a profound and hilarious way that will make us question our own subtle prejudices and give us a new perspective on the chasms in society."
